

Internal Quality Assurance Cell Baosi Banikanata Kakati College Nagaon, Barpeta (Assam)

Invited Lecture On Towards Understanding of Environment & Health

Introduction:

Environmental issues have been becoming a critical concern for the sustainable development due to its complex nature. At the same time the emerging issues of health become another concern and the extant sources of literature hints complex relationship between environment and health.

In this backdrop, the Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC) of the college has taken a step to instill in the students the responsibility towards keeping environmental values intact with the understanding of crucial relationship between environment and health. The programme is a part of celebration of Azadi Ka Amruta Mahotsav

The programme is graced by Dr. Devojit Kumar Sarma, Scientist C, ICMR-NIREH, Bhopal. After brief introduction by the Coordinator, IQAC, Dr. Gopal Kumar Sarma, Principal of the college Dr. Pradip Das has delivered welcome address and importance of the topic for a prosperous and sustainable India.

In his lecture, invited speaker Dr. Sarma has explained lucidly the concepts of environment and health and its crucial interrelationship. In his lecture he exemplified that how the use of plastic could make a serious problem for not only human health but also for the health in general and urge the students and esteemed audience to minimize use with plausible steps at individual level. After completion of the lecture a very interesting interactive session was held, which is followed by vote of thanks by Principal.

Objective:

- a. To create an awareness among students on the understanding of environment and health and its inherent interrelationship.
 - b. To educate and sensitize students about the risk of use of plastics and other harmful components of environmental pollution.
 - c. To promote environmental values.
